

Friendly Spirit' Keynotes Weeklong Schedule of Y Hello Week Festivities

Two Dances And Assembly To Climax Traditional Fete

Say 'hi' to the Y this week!

From Sept. 28 to Oct. 2 Brigham Young University students will have the opportunity to build and maintain one of the greatest Y traditions—the spirit of friendliness.

Long recognized as a hello land, the Y campus will expose the new students and get others back in the 'hi' habit with scheduled weeklong activities.

The Y Calceares and Intercollegiate Knights, honorary service organizations, sponsor the annual activities. Kathy Redd and Lynn Stahell of Provo are general chairmen.

Under the direction of Helen Hansen, Orem and Gary Hannig, Las Vegas, posters have been made which line the campus walks encouraging everyone to make this the "Hi Way of the Y."

Two dances and an assembly will promote further friendliness. Matinee dances have been slated for the Social Hall and Joseph Smith ballroom Tuesday at 5 p.m. Under the chairmanship of Jean

US Navy Band Sets Concert For Thursday

"The World's Finest" United States Navy Band will return to Provo next Thursday for two appearances.

Under the sponsorship of the Provo Chamber of Commerce and BNU, the famous band will dedicate its 3 p.m. performance to "The Youth of America" and its 8 p.m. performance will be designated for adults.

Tickets in Fieldhouse
Tickets will be on sale in the Fieldhouse, in the music department, at the Utah Office Supply, and at the Chamber of Commerce. Prices for the evening performance are $1.50 for reserved seats and $1 for general admission. Matinee tickets will be sold for $3.00.

Conducted by Lieutenant Commander Charles Brenfeller, the band, which consists of over 100 individual artists, will feature "Stars and Stripes Forever," "Anchors Aweigh," the "Cougar Song," novelty tunes from the hit parade, and many other pieces. Solos will be performed by the harp, saxophone, harmonica, accordion, trombone, piccolo, clarinet, and by two vocal soloists.

Also being featured are the "Eight Herald Trumpets" which have been known to "literally sweep audiences off their feet" by the charm and quality of their playing.

Congressional Act

President Calvin Coolidge signed a special act of congress designating the Washington Navy Yard Band as the official United States Navy Band on his inauguration day, March 4, 1923.

In the fall of 1925, the Navy Band made its first annual tour. Except for the World War II years, the band has toured each year playing before large crowds in the United States, Canada, Alaska, and other foreign countries.

THE HI WAY OF THE Y—Members of Y Calceares and Intercollegiate Knights set the example as they wave greetings to dramatize events slated for traditional hello week. Two dances and an assembly are geared to instill the 'hi' spirit in Brigham Young students.

Get On The Ball! Come To Meeting

Get a good start on that well-rounded education and join the staff of the Universe, Brigham Young University student newspaper.

A familiarization meeting for all students interested in writing—experience makes no difference—will be held Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. in room 260 Physical Science building.

A special program including explanations of the different jobs open to students on the Universe, will highlight the session.

Most of the editorial positions as well as reporter jobs are open in the sports, news and society sections, according to Dave Forsyth, editor.

Student Work Still Favorable

Chances are still fairly favorable for students seeking employment, it was announced Tuesday by B. Keith Duffin, head of the Placement bureau.

Mr. Duffin urged, however, that all students who don't need part-time work not apply, since there are large numbers of students who must have work to stay in school. It was also pointed out that students may have difficulty in finding work unless they keep in close touch with the Placement bureau.

Students should honor all commitments to employers, stated Mr. Duffin, while emphasizing the fact that reputations made or broken can greatly influence future job opportunities for other students.

Students must apply at the Placement bureau in order to obtain work and should not apply at the department where they desire employment.

Last year the Placement bureau filled 3,600 part-time jobs, with 2,200 of them on campus, and the bureau is developing new opportunities this year in an effort to satisfy those students who desire work.

Engineering Building Readied For Transfer of Departments

The offices of the Counseling Service, the Air Force ROTC, and the English department will be moved this week to temporary headquarters in the Engineering building.

J. Alvin Higbee, assistant superintendent in charge of the building, anticipated last week that part of the offices would be open Monday while the others will be ready during the week.

The ROTC, which is transferring its offices from the Brimhall building, planned to move over the weekend and start work in the new offices Wednesday morning, according to Col. Leroy C. Wilcox.

The new ROTC headquarters, located on the first floor of the center part of the building will consist of twelve offices, one classroom, one film room, one student refectory and supply room, besides a large storage room.

The Counseling Service, directed by Dr. Antone K. Romney, will take over the south end of the second floor of the building. Dr. Romney's staff will operate ten offices, a large work room, a large record and storage room, and a reception office in the building.

The English department will take over 19 new offices and a reception center in the building. The department, which had previously been in the North building and the Joseph Smith building, will have its offices in the Engineering building for the next two years. Dr. P. A. Christensen, chairman of the department said last week.

The $220,000 engineering building will be ready for the engineering laboratories and equipment by September, 1954. Dr. Harvey Fletcher stated. The offices of the ROTC, the Counseling Service, and the English department will be converted into Engineering classrooms by September.

The building, which was started in July, 1953, is ready for occupancy so early because there is a basement under the south section of the building only Mr. Higbee said.

Yell, Song & Majorette Troyouts Are Announced

Troyouts for a yell leader, a song leader and for four majorettes are to be held this week according to Dwayne Stevenson, director of pep activities.

The auditions for the yell leader and song leader will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. in the fieldhouse. A fellow is preferred as yell leader and girls may try out for the song leader position, Mr. Stevenson said.

Y Grads Now Navy Ensigns

Three Brigham Young University graduates, Lowell Slick, Frank Blair, and Richard Fimth, were commissioned Ensigns in the Naval Reserve this summer. Keith Matthews, also a graduate, received a direct commission as a line officer.

All these men were members of the Naval Reserve at the Y and graduated last year.

Other action reported by the Naval Department lists Bevan O. Haycock and Lynn Pendleton as graduated from the Naval Reserve school at Newport, Rhode Island. Mr. Haycock was graduated from the Y in marketing in 1950 and Lynn Pendleton graduated in chemistry in the class of 1953.

Law School Students To Contact Colleges

Brigham Young University students who wish to enter law school should contact the school of their choice to learn whether the Law School Admission Test is required and when it should be taken.

Bulletins and applications for the test should be obtained four to six weeks in advance of the desired testing date from Law School Admission Test, Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 562, Princeton, New Jersey.

Completed applications must be received at least ten days before the desired testing date in order to allow time to complete the necessary testing arrangements for each candidate.

Rug Throws Girls For Dignity Loss

It wasn't an earthquake that shook residents in the neighborhood of 15th East and Sixth North Monday morning. Instead it was a modern battle of monsters, rivaling that of any 3-D movie about life in 20,000 B.C.

The occasion was a meeting between "Hippo" and "Elephant"—who hadn't laid eyes on one another since last fall quarter.

Seems that the two were so happy to see one another that they flew into each other's arms, forgetting about a waxed floor and a throw rug under their feet. The emphatic greeting was just too much for the throw rug to stand, and it took a flip, landing both girls on the floor.

P.S. Neither girl was hurt, except for slightly-bruised dignities, but both of them say, "You ought to see that poor floor. It'll never be the same."

REGISTRATION SIGN-UP—Over 7,000 students took advantage of streamlined registration procedure in fieldhouse Friday and Saturday. The housing and traffic departments aided process by including sign-ups along with registration.

According to Dr. Wells Jakeman, archaeology department chairman and Society president, the contestant must be a member of the University Archaeological Society but not a professional archaeologist. His paper may be written on any phase of archaeology as it relates to the Book of Mormon, the Bible, or the Pearl of Great Price, and should not exceed 5000 words in length.

Schedule of Paper Selection of the winning paper will be made by a committee of non-contestants appointed by Dr. Jakeman. The judges will be influenced primarily by the extent to which the paper contributes to the archaeology of the Scriptures and secondarily by its literary merit, grammar and spelling.

The winner of the contest will receive a Society cash award of fifty dollars. His paper will also be selected for reading at the annual round table of the society to be held in Salt Lake City in November. In addition, at the discretion of the editor, the paper may be published in the "Bulletin of the University Archaeological Society" or other Society publication. Upon publication, the author will receive twenty-five copies or reprints free of charge. The judges may also designate a second-place winner and determine his award.

Andrus Replaces B. F. Larsen
As Art Department Chairman

An associate professor of art, J. Róman Andrus, has been appointed acting chairman of the Brigham Young University art department, it was announced by Harvey L. Taylor, executive assistant to the president.

B. F. Larsen, who has served as a member of the BYU art faculty for 45 years and chairman of the art department for 22 years, will retire from his administrative duties to teach in the art department.

Prof. Andrus joined the BYU faculty in 1943. A native of St. George, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Andrus. He received his early education in St. George school and Idaho College. He received the B.S. and M.S. degrees from BYU in 1942 and 1943, respectively, and has completed the academic requirements for the Doctorate degree at Colorado State College.

Exhibited in Many States
His works have been exhibited in California; Utah; New York; Boston, Mass.; and Wichita, Kan. He has studied with such notable artists as Ralph Holmes, Edmund Vyska, Arnold Illman, Kenneth Hayes Miller, Frederick Taubos, Byvaly Vitvay, Boardman Robinson, Otto Dix, Harry Struberg, and Prof. Larsen.

Prof. Andrus has received such awards and achievements as the Otis Faculty Award of Merit, 1939; California State Fair third prize, 1939; Purchase Prize, Utah State Institute Exhibit, 1945 and 1951; Whitmore Awards, Utah State Fair, 1943 and 1944; Brockbank Award, 1941; Festival of Allied Arts, Los Angeles, honorable mention. He is a prominent figure in the field of art in education.

Native of Monroe
Prof. Larsen is a native of Monroe. He received the A.B. degree from BYU in 1912, and the M.A. degree from University of Utah in 1922. He has done post graduate work at the School of Education in University of Chicago, where he was appointed assistant in ceramics, and the Art Institute of Chicago.

Poetry Association
Slates Nov. 5
As State Deadline

The National Poetry Association has announced November 5 as the closing date for BYU students for the submission of manuscripts to the tenth annual College Students' Poetry Competition.

There is no limitation as to form or theme of the poems, but shorter works are preferred by the Board of Judges, because of space limitations.

Each poem must be typed or printed on a separate sheet and must bear the name and home address of the author, as well as the name of the university.

In this competition there is absolutely no fee or charge for either acceptance or submission of verses. All work will be judged on merit alone.

Manuscripts should be sent to the Offices of the Association, National Poetry Association, 3210 Sicby Ave., Los Angeles 34, Calif. Last year some 20,000 manuscripts were submitted in this competition from practically every college in the country.

Good Food is Aim
Of New Y Director

"Serving good food at a reasonable price and giving the students and faculty every benefit is my main aim and goal," according to Wells B. Cloward, new BYU food director.

Mr. Cloward, who has charge of all dining rooms and eating places on campus, said he plans to install new equipment in all of the kitchens. Much of this equipment is on order, and when it is installed, the speed on the serving lines will be greatly increased. One of these features will be new trays similar to the ones now in use in the Smith Cafeteria.

He realizes that most college students do not have an excess of money and that they need a well balanced diet. This is one reason he has placed the needs of students above others.

Catering service at all campus parties and banquets will now be supplied by his department. Prior to this year most of that work has been done by individuals who have been hired from off campus.

Mr. Cloward is married and has three children. He claims Provo as his home, having lived here 15 years. Before accepting his position with the Brigham Young University, he worked at Regis Recreation Center until it was destroyed by fire.

TO LEAD FRESHMEN—Claude Sedgwick, Riverside, Calif.; Don L. Tucker, Crawfordville, Fla.; Mary Jane Arnold, Las Vegas;

Chairman Rex E. Lee, St. Johns, Ariz.; and Charlie Woodbury, Wichita, Kan., were elected temporary officers of the freshman class

Brigham Young

A SECOND WELCOME

This is the second edition of the 1953-54 Universe. In the first we published a welcome to the new students of this University. In this we wish to welcome the remainder of the student body.

It is our conception that this school was founded for the express purpose of increasing the happiness of, especially, members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Since its founding the student body has broadened to include members of all races and most religions. But the original concept, remains.

We who are members of the Church believe this school to be the University of God. We believe that it was founded by Divine inspiration. We believe that it is guided by revelation from our Heavenly Father. And even to those who are not numbered among the members of this Church, there is something unique about Brigham Young University.

This school has not as yet achieved its destiny. It may be some time before it does. Because the faculty consists of human beings, it may at times err in judgment. Because the student body consists of human beings (especially young human beings) it may at times cause the faculty and administration some concern.

But it would be wise for all to remember that, by and large, every segment of this University is organized and conceived for the purpose of increasing the happiness of students, faculty and indeed of the whole Church. With few exceptions, every person in a position of responsibility in this institution is working toward that goal.

EVERYONE READ THIS!

Every year it is the pleasant duty of the editor of the Universe, together with his colleagues to formulate a set of rules and a plan of action by which the student newspaper will be directed.

This outline, journalist-wise known as an editorial policy, is geared to establish in the mind of the average student the aims, purposes and desires of the campus paper. If remembered throughout the year, it will often soothe the irate indignation of many students as they attempt to determine the cause as to why some news gets in the paper and why others doesn't.

However, it must be remembered that no set of rules is perfect and of necessity must be flexible. The Universe will keep this in mind at all times. In other words, we are always open for constructive criticism, aimed at the general welfare of all concerned.

Above all, however peculiar the position as compared with most colleges, the Universe pledges unfailing support to the authorities and doctrines of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and every editorial decision made will be in accordance with those doctrines. This does not imply in any way that ideas seemingly in opposition with church policy will not be heard—every policy will have an opportunity. It merely means that editorial policy will follow the lines of the Gospel of Jesus Christ according to the knowledge and ability of application of such by the editors.

As far as news is concerned the Universe retains the right to determine what is news on campus and what will be of best and general interest to most students. It is not the intent to snub or discredit any department or organization and fair coverage of every section of the University will be the aim.

In reading the Universe it is the earnest desire that every student on campus will be keenly aware of what constitutes an editorial or statement of policy by the editors and the opinions of the students, or letters to the editors. All editorials will always be found in the upper left corner of page four. Letters to the editors or 'safety valve' will be found elsewhere on the page. Do not credit a letter to the editor as the policy of the Universe! Remember! The deadline for any type of news, except if special arrangements are made, is 2 p.m. Friday for the Tuesday paper and 2 p.m. Monday for the Thursday edition.

In relation to organizational news and function coverage, special attention should be given by all social units, service, geographical, religious and departmental groups to the announcements found on page five of this publication.

In summary, the Universe pledges to support the welfare and interests of the Brigham Young University and student body and proposes to attain this end by inviting everyone's cooperation and sincere interest.

Legislative Leanings...

Bookstore Basement Efficiency

By Dick Oveson

If the student government organization runs everything as smoothly this year as they did the leadership conference at Brighton, Y students can rest assured that efficiency reigns in the Bookstore basement.

The conference, a two-day affair, was a stimulating experience. Sessions were not only instructive, they were fun, and the 115 or so delegates thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Probably the most widely heard comment during the meet, however, was "Wonder what I'm doing up here!"

Junior Class Plans

LeRoy Cooper, junior class pres., is getting his class organized in a manner that few of the classes have ever experienced. Cooper is planning on a class council, composed of everyone who has a desire to work on a big list of proposed class activities. This council will be divided into groups, each with a chairman, and each, specializing on a certain field. These chairmen, in turn will direct their specialties when something big, like the Prem, comes along. They will know their people and their jobs, and if LeRoy can people his plans, students should get a look at something new in class government.

Incidentally, interested juniors can pick up applications for the council in the student organization rooms in the Service Center basement.

Public Relations

Kent Lloyd, whose father is Dean of Students, is the new director of public relations, taking the spot on the cabinet vacated when Andy Douglas was called on a mission.

Weston Edwards, ASBYU business manager, is expanding his office force. Soon to join the staff are an accountant and an assistant accountant. Both of the prospective new men are accounting majors, one a graduate student and the other a senior.

LeRoy Porter, last year's student body boss, is the man behind the desk in Dr. Brant's office. LeRoy is taking over the job held by Bob West last year, and is, for lack of a better term, the "student student coordinator."

Time Out...

Entertaining, Informing, Educating By Dallas Burnett

There was a time when it was possible to dash off two or three beams of light-headed material without any viable effort. Today, the situation is different. Serenity has crept in—and a TIME OUT is necessary every few paragraphs.

What follows today and in the future doesn't propose to solve the problems of the world or to delve into the mysteries of life. But there is a hope shining brightly before us that it will entertain, inform, and maybe even educate.

A Real Impression

Do you have any complaints about leaving a security deposit when you're leaving office, or "paying your landlady the last month's rent in advance"? Then listen to this little tidbit from Fred Schwendiman, director of student housing.

When one apartment was vacated last spring in the Provo area by a group of girls, the landlady came across something that left her wide-eyed and open-mouthed.

As a lasting monument to a boy friend of one of the girls was a complete outline of a man pressed into one of the walls.

When Father Was Here

After 45 years on the Brigham Young University campus Dean Christen Jensen could probably be considered qualified to pass a comment or two on the difference in today's registration system and those of years gone by.

According to Dean Jensen, registration was completed in one room in the Education building with all of the college students gathered at the same time—that was back around 1910. In those days the administration probably waited to see what people wanted to take before deciding what to teach.

To further illustrate BYU's growth, the B.Y. high school students numbered many more than college students in the years before World War I.

A Changing Process

Registration procedure has always been a changing process, and probably always will. The Heber J. Grant Library served as the scene of many a registration. And the Joseph Smith ball room held the honors up until just two years ago, when the size of the whole operation made the move into the recently completed fieldhouse necessary.

Some of the old-timers may long for the "good old days" when they didn't have to fill out a thousand and one odd forms, but forms mean progress—so bring on the forms.

Grad Student Exams Asked

Since the graduate record examinations are required by many institutions, students who plan to enter graduate schools should contact the school of their choice to learn whether it is necessary to take these tests.

Application forms and a bulletin of information, which provides details of registration and administration as well as sample questions, may be obtained from college advisers or directly from Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 9896, Los Feliz Station, Los Angeles 27, Calif.

College In Trouble With Playing 'Kids'

Allegheny college, Pa., doesn't know what to do with all its children. It seems there's a kid's playground right in the middle of the campus, and it's causing considerable trouble.

We like little children," says the Campus, student newspaper. "... but after all, this is a college. Do you think we ought to have a playground right smack in the middle of our front yards?" "This is more than a college," continues the paper. "It's a Harvard in the wilderness," and have you ever seen a playground in the middle of the Harvard yard?"

Besides, complains The Campus, the sight of those kids "gives us a vicious desire to chuck all our studies and go out and have a wild see-saw. ... Let's not make this place too much of a farce!"

Frosh Pep Unit Choses 62 Girls

Ranks of the Cougarettes, freshmen girls' pep unit, were almost filled Wednesday as the result of tryouts in the field-house.

More than 300 frosh coeds marched past a panel of judges and were given short interviews by a group of campus leaders.

The aspirants were then rated by both panels for their appearance, coordination, posture, personality, and enthusiasm. On the basis of the ratings, 62 were named as members and six as alternates.

Preliminary Meeting

A preliminary meeting was held Thursday afternoon at which Ferl Holman, White Key adviser, and Ellen Kowler, marching director, further explained the purposes and obligations of the pep unit, charging the new members to consider them carefully before pledging. A final list of Cougarettes will be published later.

Activities for Cougarettes begin immediately. They have chosen a committee to plan a week-appearance party, and marching practices start this week.

The club will make their first appearance at the Utah State-Brigham Young University football game, October 16, when they will perform a marching drill in connection with the ROTC band. They will also take a prominent part in Homecoming activities, November 1. At basketball and football games they will make up a special yell section, execute marching drills, and throughout the year will devote themselves to spirited good sportsmanship.

Marching Judges

Notical Society Change

Starting next week, the social beliefs for social units and service organizations will be published in the Tuesday paper and those for religious, departmental and geographical organizations will be in the Thursday paper.

Tuesday's deadline is Friday noon and Thursday's deadline is Monday noon.

SPONSORS

Information regarding the place of Sponsor Corps interviews will be posted on the ROTC bulletin board in front of the Brinham building.

Freshman girls and transfer students will be interviewed Tuesday and Thursday of this week.

The group parties planned for next week will highlight the big-little sister program of the Associated Women Students.

Information about the parties planned by each group may be obtained at the AWS information booth on the Smith lawn.

During the first meeting, officers will be elected from the little sisters to plan and carry out activities for their group for fall quarter. Each group will be organized into a separate unit to function as a social group for the first quarter.

All freshmen girls are urged to attend a party. If they haven't been able to get in touch with their big sisters they should attend the parties with their friends, it was announced by AWS officers.

San Jose Victory—28-25 . . .

Last Quarter Rally Ditches Cats

by Gordon Brandhagan
Universe Sports Writer

An upset victory by the BYU Cougars over the highly favored San Jose Spartans was almost in the offing Friday night, but the Pacific Coast powerhouse staged a last quarter rally to edge the Cats 28-25.

San Jose led through most of the game, but the Cougars managed to pull ahead for a time in the fourth quarter—to no avail.

BYU received and on an early play, Dick Felt broke away for 35 yards to the Spartan 19, where San Jose took over. Joe Uim, Spartan fullback, scored his first of four TD's during the evening soon afterwards from 2 yards out and Larry Rice kicked his first of four placements. BYU slowly made yardage and because of a San Jose offside penalty, were on the Californians' one. Reed Stobworthy went over center for the score. DeRay Eyre made the only BYU placement during the game to leave the first quarter tied at 7-7.

Pass Interception

San Jose scored again when Walker intercepted a pass and Uim scored his second touchdown. Rice again converted for the extra point. Half-time score, 14-7.

San Jose made the score 21 to 7 as Uim scored again and Rice made the placement. But the Cougars fought back on a pass from LaVon Satterfield to Dick Felt. Pass from center was fumbled on try for conversion. On the kickoff Cougar tackle Lonnie Radger recovered a Spartan fumble on the San Jose 37 and the combination Satterfield to Felt produced another six points. Don Wood got into the game again and missed his first conversion this season. Wood was injured for the second time after the kickoff to end the third quarter 21-19.

Another Fumble

BYU recovered another fumble on their own 18 but Dick Felt had to punt and booted the ball a tremendous 38 yards to the San Jose 9. BYU again got possession of the ball and Felt raced for the goal to put the Cats ahead 25-21. With few minutes remaining San Jose sent their fullback Uim over for his fourth touchdown for the Spartans and the ever-consistent Rice kicked for the extra point. San Jose was again driving down the field when time ran out.

Score by quarters:
BYU . . . 7 0 12 6 25
San Jose . . . 7 7 7 7

JOHNSON'S JABBERINGS

by Nolan Johnson

Four touchdown favorites! It looks to me as if somebody either overrated one team, or underrated the other. Speaking of course, about the football game last Friday between San Jose State and BYU.

Coach Bob Brown's Golden Raiders were supposed to completely swamp the Cougars, but Coach Chick Atkinson's charges weren't to be swamped.

No Push Overs

Although the Cats lost 28-25, they showed San Jose that they were no pushovers. Trailing 21-7 going into the third quarter, the Cougars scored two times in the third and one time in the fourth, to go ahead 25-21, even though they failed to convert three times.

After the sons of Brigham scored their fourth touchdown, they left San Jose with eight minutes and the ball. At this point the Y's defense really sagged, and it only took the Spartans four minutes to make the score 28-25.

The Cats slowly chewed up yardage in the final four minutes, but that was the trouble. It was just too slow, and time ran out for them just inside Spartan territory.

Cougars Really Clicked

On the ground, the Cougars really clicked, gaining 375 yards to San Jose's 351. Two of the Y scores came on timely passes from Lavon Saterfield, Y quarterback, to halfback Dick Felt. Of the 375 total, 264 yards were gained rushing and 111 passing, as against 351 yards for the Spartans rushing and 20 by passing. The Y gained 33 first downs to San Jose's 16, and all in all the Y outplayed San Jose offensively, but both teams' defense was in poor shape.

Coach Atkinson promised a good ball game, and a fighting Cougar team, and the fans really got their money's worth.

This past weekend, all of the Skyline Conference teams saw action either in, or outside of, their own conference.

Besides the BYU-San Jose game, the University of Utah met and whipped the University of Idaho Vandals 21-0; Utah State downed New Mexico 6-0; Wyoming mauled Montana to the tune of 27-7; Colorado A&M beat Kansas State 14-13; and Denver bested Drake 33-14.

Golf Tourney Open To All Linksters

Cougars To Tackle Lobo Gridders In Good Shape

Brigham Young University's football team will tackle the New Mexico Lobos in reasonably good shape, according to head coach Chick Atkinson.

Don Wood and Paul Kochevar, the two big question marks on the Cougar roster will probably both be ready to go Saturday.

Wood, who received a slight concussion in the same game, was released from the Health Center Sunday, and while he is still under a doctor's observation, appears to be completely recovered.

All In Action ...

Skyline Conference Members Score First Football Tests

Brigham Young University, Utah, Utah State, New Mexico, Colorado A&M, Wyoming, and Montana, the eight teams in the Skyline Conference, have begun their fall football rivalries.

Montana has lost two conference tilts, one to BYU and one to Wyoming. Utah State, in the only other Skyline game, defeated New Mexico 6-0 last Saturday night.

In the Wyoming-Montana game, the Cowboys from Laramie ran all over the Grizzlies, defeating them 27-7.

The University of Utah downed the University of Idaho Vandals 24-0; the Utah State-New Mexico and Wyoming-Montana games mentioned above; Colorado A&M squeaked by Kansas State 14-13; and Denver whipped Drake 33-14.

Contest Announced For Girls to Serve With Nationally Known Magazine Staff

Margaret Affleck, 1953 Brigham Young University graduate, was one of 20 girls selected to serve as guest editor of the college edition of the Mademoiselle fashion magazine last summer.

This nationally known magazine is again sponsoring such a contest for interested young college women. Girls who meet the proper requirements will be chosen to serve on the Mademoiselle college board. While members of the board, these girls will have opportunities in writing, fashions, merchandising, promotion, art and advertising.

Margaret Affleck, who represented the Y as a guest editor last year had her start as one of the several thousand college board members. She was chosen from 2,000 other entrants in the contest. Margaret's home is in Salt Lake City and she was the only guest editor from west of the Mississippi.

Allen Hall And Family Life Provide Home Atmosphere

by Roman Andrus, Universe Staff Writer

Treks from Allen Hall to the far-off Family Life Unit No. 12 will, no doubt, prove quite difficult but interesting as this 1953-54 collegiate year begins.

In these two sections of campus housing, both women and men students numbering approximately 1,000, will make their residence in new and different surroundings.

Allen Hall, which for the past six years has been a girls' dorm, now accommodates 97 boys with rooms for two to four boys each. This year, this group is about two-thirds freshmen.

Conveniences for Boys

For the first time in many years, the boys will have the conveniences of their own study hall type room, and washing facilities (automatic washer and dryer). In their new homes, ping-pong and other table games, and their own orchestra are sources of entertainment and relaxation. They will probably hold firesides Sunday evenings, and will hold house parties once a quarter.

The end of this interesting trek for most of the boys will be at the new Family Life units north of the campus, where 800 BYU women students are "batching" it.

These girls rave about extraordinary conveniences in their new apartments such as abundance of closet space, automatic washers and dryers and plenty of storage space in the base-ments.

Room for Firesides

The spacious living rooms provide for firesides, date meeting places, and social gatherings.

President Wilkinson Scheduled As Assembly Speaker

The first student body assembly of the year will be held to day in the Fieldhouse. According to Prof. Stewart Grow, assembly committee chairman, the assembly will welcome all students back to the University.

Main speaker will be Pres. Ernest L. Wilkinson. Students will be seated according to states, if present plans are carried out.
